

Using P3M3 to improve performance

Find out how to plan and measure improvement activities

Overview

The P3M3 Training Workshop shows how to use the Office of Government Commerce's Portfolio, Programme and Project Management Maturity Model (P3M3) to improve organisational performance.

The workshop demonstrates there is more to maturity modelling than certification. It provides delegates with a self assessment method and a framework for planning and measuring improvement initiatives.

What is P3M3?

P3M3 (Portfolio, Programme and Project Management Maturity Model) describes the portfolio, programme and project-related activities required to achieve project outcomes.

P3M3 is concerned with both how a project is run and the environment an organisation creates that enables projects to be successful.

Who will benefit?

Those organisations who wish to improve their capability in the management of portfolios, programmes and projects.

The course will be of particular interest to:

- Business change managers
- Heads of projects / programmes
- Portfolio directors
- Heads of centres of excellence for project management
- Heads of programme / project offices
- Programme managers.

Format

A highly interactive one day workshop comprising a mixture of theory, case studies and practical sessions.
